

Wheat Crams Grain Elevators

Thousands of bushels of wheat, shipped in from out-of-state elevators, remain in cars at Omaha, Neb., while grain belt elevators there are so full they can't take any more. Grain carloads moved in January were close to the all-time high of January, 1944. Meanwhile, President Truman's emergency committee asks the U. S. to eat less wheat so grain may be sent to millions in foreign countries facing starvation.

Pauley's Name Withdrawn By Truman For Navy Post

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 13.—President Truman today withdrew the nomination of Edwin W. Pauley, California oil man, to be under-secretary of the navy.

The President acted at Pauley's request. He said Pauley's defense of his "good name" had been "valiant and conclusive."

In a letter, Mr. Truman told Pauley that he "met the challenge of his nomination 'with facts' and added:

"You answered prejudice with a complete and forthright resume of your career and with an amazing patience under continued misrepresentation."

Announced By Walsh

The first announcement of the withdrawal came from Chairman Walsh (D., Mass.) of the senate naval affairs committee after a 30-minute closed session of the group.

At the same time, Walsh handed reporters a statement declaring that the committee "commends" Pauley "for his patriotic action in requesting the President to withdraw his nomination."

The action wound up six weeks of controversy which boiled up at one point in the explosive resignation of Harold L. Ickes as secretary of interior. Ickes had criticized the nomination.

The White House made public an exchange of letters between the President and Pauley shortly after the note of withdrawal was sent to Leslie Biddle, secretary of the senate.

After expressing his "full confidence" in Pauley, the President wrote, "I shall reluctantly withdraw your nomination."

"But I shall do so not without ironical reflections," the President added. "Your honor, integrity, fidelity to duty and capacity for public service have been completely established."

"All of these considerations and circumstances fully justify the confidence which I reposed in you and which prompted me to call you to the service of the department of the navy. So, you stand before your countrymen after vicious and unwarranted attacks with integrity unscathed, with ability unquestioned, with honor unimpaired."

Neither the President nor Pauley made personal references to Ickes or his testimony during the senate hearings.

Ickes testified that Pauley had told him that he could raise $300,000 from oil men for the Democratic campaign if the administration abandoned efforts to get government title to Tidelands oil areas.

GOERING TELLS OF WAR ROLE

Former Reichsmarshal Takes Stand, Lectures Allied Judges

(By Associated Press)

NUERNBERG, March 13.—Lecturing his Allied judges as if they were schoolboys, Hermann Goering testified today that Adolf Hitler seized power in 1933 "to make Germany free."

The leader among the 22 Nazis on trial for war crimes boasted his own importance in snatching control for the Nazi party and asserted that an army plot against Hitler was barely averted a few hours before the first Hitler cabinet took its oath 13 years ago.

The former reichsmarshal, dressed in a baggy, unadorned gray uniform with a red scarf about his neck, charged that the military plot was instigated by Gen. Kurt Von Schleicher—slain the following year in the Ernst Roehm blood purge—and Gen. Curt Von Hammerstein-Equord, former commander of the German army, with the help of the Potsdam garrison.

The prompt return of Gen. Werner Von Blomberg from a disarmament conference in Switzerland and his nomination as minister of defense, Goering said.

He started his testimony by telling of his career that started three decades ago in the Richthofen air squadron.

The court was packed for the dramatic moment of the three and a half months trial as the once flamboyant reichsmarshal took his place before the microphone.

In a low, somber voice Goering told how he met Hitler and joined the National Socialist party.

Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring told the tribunal today he was "a principal advocate" of invading England in the summer of 1940 and that Germany's "defensive air force" was ready for that blow.

They admitted breaking into an Akron store and stealing two machine guns, both war souvenirs.

HELD GUILTY IN $40,996 SHORTAGE

COLUMBUS, March 13.—The Ohio supreme court today affirmed the Mahoning county appellate court in holding that Fred J. Gough, assistant to the receiver of the Central Loan & Savings association of Youngstown, must face liability for a shortage of $40,996 in the receiver's accounts.

Gough was assistant to James A. Devine of Columbus, former secretary of the Ohio Building and Loan association, who was receiver of the Youngstown financial institution from 1930 until 1940 when the shortage was discovered. Gough was in active charge of the receivership work.

The Maryland Casualty Co., Devine's surety, made good the loss and collected $8,000 from Devine. It then filed an action to recover the remainder from Gough and his surety, the American Surety Co., claiming that the loss was due solely to Gough's wrongful abstraction, misapplication and appropriation of the money to his own use.

The common pleas court held in favor of both Gough and the American Surety Co. The appellate court affirmed as to the surety company, but reversed and remanded as to Gough.

GM AND UNION NEAR ACCORD

Report Wage Agreement Finally Reached In 113-Day Dispute

BULLETIN

DETROIT, March 13.—The General Motors strike was settled this afternoon on the basis of an 18½ cents an hour wage increase (16½ per cent.)

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, March 13.—General Motors and CIO United Auto Workers negotiations were nearing an agreement on the issues that have kept 175,000 production workers idle in the 113-day old strike, authoritative sources disclosed this forenoon.

As a negotiating session that began yesterday afternoon continued today, a corporation official who asked that his name not be used, told newsmen that agreement has been reached on the wage issue and that "a few other non-economic issues" remained to be resolved.

The official did not say whether the agreement was on the basis of an 18½ cents an hour increase as offered by the corporation or the 19½ cents an hour rise demanded by the union.

Another management source asking not to be quoted by name, said the negotiations now in progress contemplated a definite settlement of the entire dispute and "not just another deal." He did not elaborate.

Union Heads Silent

Union heads, including President R. J. Thomas, Vice-President Walter P. Reuther and Secretary-Treasurer George F. Addes, withheld comment.

They made no comment on reports that if a settlement is not reached today the strike would continue until after the annual convention of the UAW-CIO at Atlantic City, March 23-31.

The prolonged strike already has cost General Motors upwards of $500,000,000 in unfilled orders, the wage loss to the strikers has been calculated to date by the union at $127,690,000 and by the management at $144,866,000. The union figured the work week at 40 hours and the corporation at 45½ hours.

The UAW-CIO originally demanded a 30 per cent wage rise, asserting that much increase was necessary to maintain the wartime take-home pay. When a presidential fact-finding commission recommended an increase of 19½ cent (17½ per cent) the union accepted the proposal, but management rejected it and countered with its 18½ cents (16½ per cent) offer.

Union Vice-President Reuther, who has been the leading figure in directing the prolonged strike, said today that when an agreement is reached the UAW General Motors council will be called immediately for a special conference to approve it. It will be submitted then to the union locals in 92 GM plants for ratification.

Hill Says Future Success In Orient Rests With U.S.; Urges Soviet Cooperation

"Our future in Soviet Asia is in our own hands," Max Hill, noted radio commentator, foreign correspondent and author, told a large crowd at a Town Hall meeting last evening in the High school auditorium.

The Orient is the "powder keg" of world affairs today and we are faced with a number of tasks if we are to succeed in our efforts to keep antagonism at a minimum, he said.

"We are in a very critical position in Soviet Asia, since Russia is our only rival in the type of government Japan will select. It is necessary for us to eliminate racial prejudice, work toward the proper education of the Oriental peoples and refrain from entering disagreements now in progress."

Cooperate With Russia. "It is important that the United States cooperate with Russia, for Russia has raw materials for our industries and she provides a large amount of trade."

"The old colonial empires in the Orient are a thing of the past, due to long-range propaganda policies used by the Japanese. We must now stop talking and take action if we are to instill in the eastern countries the type of government and thinking we want."

It would be a mistake to try the emperor of Japan as a war criminal, Hill said, pointing out that in so doing we would set him up as a martyr and that would ruin the progress Gen. MacArthur's policies have made to date.

"Prior to the war the emperor was backed by secret societies, military forces, and bureaucrats. He is now a puppet, very important in our plans for the rehabilitation of Japan, and must be kept in an inconspicuous position."

MacArthur's Policy Sound. The Oriental will choose between democracy and communism. Through medical and educational missions, both teaching democracy, we have not only the problem but also the obligation to help the people in Soviet Asia become world citizens, he said.

Hill described several of his experiences while interned in a Japanese prison following the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Byrnes Sends Moscow New Protest Note

By JOSEPH GOODWIN

TEHRAN, Iran, March 13.—Russian combat troops in full campaign kit were declared by British and other official sources today to have closed within 20 miles of this capital and to be moving southwest across northern Iran close to the borders of Turkey and oil-rich Iraq.

The reports caused Secretary of State James F. Byrnes to announce in Washington last night the dispatch of another note to Moscow demanding an explanation.

This correspondent flew over Karaj, 20 miles from Tehran, and counted 14 Sherman tanks, a score of other vehicles and saw half a dozen Red fighter planes at Kazvin, to the north.

Premier Qavam Es Saltaneh, just returned from inconclusive negotiations in Moscow over the continued presence of Russian troops in Iran, declared today that no agreements were reached.

Qavam described as "ridiculous" reports circulated during his visit to Moscow that he agreed to six Soviet demands which were reported to have included the incorporation of Azerbaijan into the Soviet union, granting of oil concessions to Russia and direction of the Iranian army by Russian officers.

He said he took a "firm stand" against "certain concessions which the Soviet union expected the Persian government to make in their favor" and that the Russians in turn took a "firm stand" against his demands for immediate evacuation of Iran.

Reports reaching this troubled capital told of Russian combat troops entering the towns of Mi-aneh, Maragheh and Miyandab close to the southern end of Lake Urmia near the Turkish and Iraq borders.

Russian troops were obligated by international agreement to have withdrawn by March 2. Instead, there were reports of large Red army reinforcements moving into Iran.

A British foreign office spokesman in London said that government has received reports of "considerable" Russian troop movements toward Tehran and the Iraq frontier. The British expressed concern over the continued presence of Russian troops in Iran.

Leftist agitation has been evident in Iran and some political observers expressed belief that the Russian moves near the capital might be planned to create "unrest and rebellion" in Tehran, as in the northern province of Azerbaijan. The leftist Tudeh party has been especially active in Tehran the past week.

Demand Sea Bases. Russian interest in Turkey has been expressed in at least two phases. Russia has demanded that Turkey cede to Russia the Black Sea provinces of Kars and Ardahan. The Russians also are reported to have demanded bases in the Dardanelles.

Reports from Azerbaijan province indicated that a new Russian cavalry column was fanning into Iran through the border town of Astara on the Caspian sea.

Military observers commented that the Russians last year had dug trenches, constructed roads and conducted large "postwar" maneuvers along the Turkish-Iranian border.

Political observers here, some of whom say the Russians supported the rebellion which resulted in the separation of Russian-occupied Azerbaijan province from the central government, speculated that the present Russian activity might be planned to create "unrest and rebellion" in the capital.

Taft also suggested calling Jesse H. Jones, former head of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and Leo T. Crowley, ex-chief of the foreign economic administration.

Confidence and Chester Bowles

In a remark that harks back 13 years to President Roosevelt's first inauguration when he told us that all we "had to fear was fear itself," Chester Bowles promises that the administration's economic controls will work if all of us have confidence.

Achievement of full production, he says, is being delayed "by fear and doubt and blind self-interest." To this list of handicaps must be added one more which Mr. Bowles, speaking for the government, cannot recognize.

It is a gnawing conviction that government itself is floundering in its handling of the problems of free enterprise. There is a lack of confidence in the intentions and ability of the national government. It was lack of confidence that caused voters to sweep out the Hoover administration in 1932. It was lack of confidence in the Roosevelt administration that handicapped recovery during the 1930's. It is lack of confidence in the Truman administration that is gumming up postwar reconversion.

The lack is not concentrated in any section of the population. As Mr. Bowles is able to observe from his vantage point as stabilization director, not only management and capital are uncertain and skeptical, but also organized and unorganized labor. Even politicians are affected, as witness the fact the Democratic coalition is unable to agree on general policy terms. The Republicans are not much better; they cannot agree on the terms of effective opposition to the majority party. Under the circumstances, for Mr. Bowles to chide the public for lack of confidence in what he and a few others propose is to come very close to saying everybody is out of step but Chester Bowles.

The Other Fellow's Skin

Publicity given to an order to the 203rd anti-aircraft battalion in Germany to refrain from criticizing Russia in the presence of Germans is a timely reminder to all of us that Germans have a vicious interest in friction between the Allies.

The battalion's commander, Lt. Col. Frank Ebey, properly reminds his command that Germans, not Russians, were the enemy; that Russians, not Germans, deserve consideration; and that as soldiers occupying a defeated country his men are representatives of their government.

It is too bad that Col. Ebey's earnest admonition to his command should contain one wartime fallacy that has been kept in circulation by propaganda. It is the fallacy that "millions of Russian soldiers and civilians died to save our skins". In various forms, the same fallacy has been circulated about Britons, Greeks, Poles, Frenchmen, Dutchmen, Norwegians and Yugoslavs: that they died to save American skins.

All who died and sacrificed in the war to defeat Germany, Italy and Japan shared a common purpose—to defeat the enemy. To advance that purpose they helped one another in varying degrees. But it never was plainer than it is now that the other fellow's skin was a secondary consideration. The first thought of every member of the Allies was self-preservation, not abstract idealism. If that had been recognized during the war and were to be recognized more honestly in attempts to avert another war, a great deal of confusion might have been stopped before it got started.

Only The Productive Can Be Strong

Running through every comment on national and international needs of the present and future is a theme of the vital need of ever-greater production to make up a deficit of commodities in the wake of history's most destructive war.

Two miscalculations have helped to bring the deficit into clear focus. One was an under-estimate of what would be needed. The other was an over-estimate of what the United States, the world's principal producer, would produce.

It is evident that there is greater demand for goods of all kinds abroad than was anticipated. The result is competition between the foreign and domestic market for what is available.

It is also evident, and disturbingly so, that production in the United States, which circumstances have made the pace-setter, is not automatic. The intricate machinery of American production has been injured seriously by the dislocations of war and internal differences of opinion. Some production has been halted entirely, other production is proceeding at a reduced rate.

In the presidential campaign of 1940, Wendell Wilkie warned this country, then fumbling with preparation for war, that only the productive can be strong and only the strong can be free. It is not amiss to remember that warning, as confirmed by subsequent events. The fumbling now happens to be with preparation for peace, instead of war, but it is still true—only the productive can be strong, only the strong can be free.

If The Shoe Fits

Army brass hats, though not noted for finesse, have threaded their way through a maze that has baffled nimble minds. Their War Department directive to weed out disaffected and subversive personnel in critical positions, if it is applied intelligently, can eliminate Communists without mentioning them by name or raising the issue of citizenship rights.

The directive puts the horse in front of the cart. Similar efforts by other government departments to weed out homegrown Communists definitely have put the cart in front of the horse. By alleging Communism first, then trying to prove disloyalty, these efforts have made it appear that Communism, not disloyalty, was the issue. The usual result was that the suspected individual had only to prove he was not officially a Communist.

The War Department, in effect, has ordered that if the shoe of disloyalty fits, the wearer is not entitled to hold a position of trust. The directive obviously is subject to grave abuse if it leads to a witch hunt, but that possibility is less important than the abuse to which the War Department is subject if it does not deal forthrightly with the threat of subversion.

The directive's larger significance is, of course, as a warning that the United States is no longer pretending that its own Communists have no connection with international revolution. They have made pretense impossible by their own actions, such as the ousting of their national chairman for cooperating with the free enterprise system during the war. The War Department has grasped the nettle that has frustrated civilian government for more than a generation.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, March 14.

AN extremely lively and busy day, in which all affairs are under high pressure and spurt ahead under the impetus of a sudden, strange and unpredictable state of affairs or an episode of extraordinary or baffling urgency. This may have radical and far-reaching influence on the life and its fortunes, which may involve a complete reversal of the old status.

However, this sudden adventure may be bungled or twisted to disadvantage unless a careful analysis of the situation be systematically and logically considered, with well-organized plans and carefully thought-out and practical techniques. Be alert to under-cover issues!

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of great excitement and activity, moving into sudden and perhaps spectacular grooves of unexpected and unpredictable denouement. These are of far-reaching and revolutionary influence on the future and its progress, as well as beget romance and adventure of sensational force.

Joint Inflammation Causing Deformity

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

RHEUMATOID arthritis is an inflammation of the joints which occurs in young adults, and causes deformity of the joints. Although the exact cause of rheumatoid arthritis is not known, there are many things which suggest that in part it may be due to some sort of infection.

For example, such symptoms as inflammation of the affected joints, fever, rapid heart beat and loss of weight would seem to indicate that the joint inflammation is the result of infection.

Value of Penicillin

Because of these facts I have received many letters asking whether or not penicillin is of value in treating arthritis since penicillin has been shown to be helpful in infections produced by a variety of germs such as the staphylococcus and streptococcus.

Treatment for arthritis has not heretofore by any means satisfactory. Measures usually employed such as rest, both physical and mental, rest of the joints, the application of heat and the use of the diet rich in vitamins have all been found helpful to some extent, but none apparently have been curative.

Gold Salts

According to Dr. Bernard J. Comroe of Philadelphia, the only chemical substance which appears to be of value in treating rheumatoid arthritis is gold salts. However, these gold salts are toxic or poisonous. Some patients with arthritis are not improved by this form of treatment, and when the treatment is stopped even in the cases that are improved, relapses occur. It has been reported by many observers that patients are improved by using high dosages of vitamin D.

Dr. Comroe tried treatment of six patients who had rheumatoid arthritis with penicillin, giving at least 100,000 units daily for two weeks. In five, the condition had been present for at least four years. In one of these, it had started in childhood, had improved and then flared up again five years later. In the sixth patient, the arthritis had been apparent only eight weeks before treatment was begun.

Regular Injections

The penicillin was given by injection into a muscle every three hours day and night for at least two weeks. All of the patients were in the hospital during the course of the treatment and all showed an active form of the joint inflammation before the penicillin treatment was started. There were swelling of the joints, fever, rapid heart beat, loss of weight, wasting of the muscles and swelling of the tissues around the joint.

There was no evidence that the penicillin altered the course of the disease in any way. During the penicillin treatment, application of heat, proper diet, and the use of drugs for relieving pain were continued, to aid in relieving symptoms.

A great deal further study of arthritis is needed, since there is little known concerning its cause. In view of the fact that penicillin does not affect the condition, it would appear that infection may not play a very prominent role in the disease.

The arthritis should not, however, give up hope, for with proper care and the use of many of the measures suggested, improvement can be brought about.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. C.: I have a tumor or a cyst just behind or under the right ear lobe. Can I use some way to waste it away or do I have to have it cut out?

Answer: It is probable that the swelling which you mention is either a fatty tumor or a sebaceous cyst. It probably will be necessary to have it removed surgically.

B. H.: Just what is rheumatic heart disease? The young man who has it is twenty-eight years old.

Answer: There is a disorder known as rheumatic fever, which frequently does damage to the heart. Rheumatic fever is probably due to infection with a virus, which is an organism so small that it can pass through a tiny opening in a filter. With proper care, it may be possible to ward off future damage to the heart.

V. P.: My daughter who is 17 years old complains of her joints feeling loose and uncomfortable. When she twists them a certain way they make a loud cracking noise. What do you suggest?

Answer: "Cracking" in the joints is probably due to the fact that there has been a disturbance known as fibrositis in the ligaments. This causes the ligaments to become somewhat shorter. When the bones move, the ligaments are stretched, which causes the cracking sound. There is no need to worry about this condition, as it will cause no trouble.

A. M. S.: Is there any method of removing tiny veins from under the nose?

Answer: It is possible that the veins may be made much less noticeable by injection treatments. However, I suggest that you consult a skin specialist about this matter.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th st., New York City.

How would you CHART YOUR COURSE?

Pictured here are the records of four "life lines" of our business—four things which largely control the destiny of any business, whether it be a farm, a factory or a store. They are Wages, Materials Costs, Prices, and Profits. Suppose these were pictures of what is going on in your own affairs. How would you chart your future course from these facts?

What about wages? Wages have risen steadily for five years. Before the strike which began on January 21 in ten of our plants and which has choked off nearly all farm machinery production, earnings of employees of these plants averaged $1.15 1/2 an hour. The exact point at which operating at a loss would start is a matter of judgment. Government agencies and union leaders may have opinions as to where that point is. But if they turn out to be wrong, they can shrug their shoulders and say: "Well, it wasn't my responsibility. I didn't make the decision."

The management of this Company cannot and will not say that. It dares not gamble. It has to be sure. Continuation of our service to millions of customers, the future jobs of thousands of employees, and the safety of the investments of 39,000 stockholders depend on our making as correct a decision as is humanly possible.

What about materials? No one seems to know how high materials costs will go. The Government has increased steel prices as much as $12.00 a ton, with an average increase for all grades of 8.2%. Steel is the most important material we buy, but prices on other materials are also increasing.

What about prices? There has been no general increase in our prices since they were frozen by the Government in early 1942. Since then a few small increases have been allowed where particular machines were substantially changed in design.

What about profits? Risk is part of the American profit and loss system. So we do not, of course, ask either our customers or the Government to guarantee that we can be certain of profits each year. The chart tells the story of our profits during the war. Although Harvester produced more goods than ever before, it had no desire to get rich out of war, so our rate of profit has steadily gone down. What our 1946 profit will be is extremely uncertain.

What is the next step? As you can see, our present situation is that with frozen prices and declining profits, we are asked to pay higher materials costs and to make the biggest wage increase in the history of the Company. Can we do this?

Wages and materials consume all but a few cents of every dollar we take in. If our prices continue frozen, and cost of wages and materials continues to rise, obviously our Company will begin to operate at a loss at some point. The exact point at which operating at a loss would start is a matter of judgment. Government agencies and union leaders may have opinions as to where that point is. But if they turn out to be wrong, they can shrug their shoulders and say: "Well, it wasn't my responsibility. I didn't make the decision."

The management of this Company cannot and will not say that. It dares not gamble. It has to be sure. Continuation of our service to millions of customers, the future jobs of thousands of employees, and the safety of the investments of 39,000 stockholders depend on our making as correct a decision as is humanly possible.

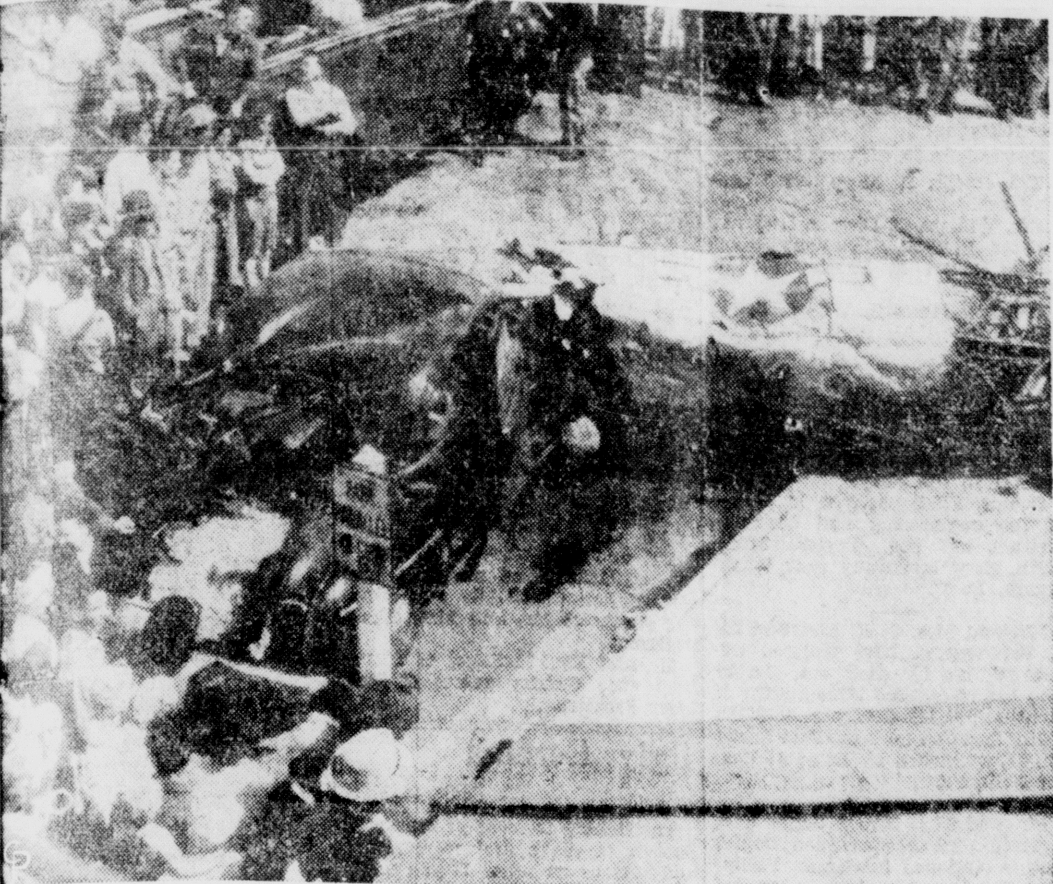

What about future prices on farm machinery? The judgment of Harvester's management now is that we cannot safely make the huge wage increase recommended by the Government until the Government authorizes adequate increases in the prices of farm machinery to cover the resulting increased costs.

That is not a judgment that makes us happy. The Company does not want to raise prices. We prefer to lower prices, when possible, and we know our customers prefer to have us do that. We have produced at 1942 prices, and hoped we could continue to do so. We have delayed seeking general price relief in the hope that it could be avoided. Now we are convinced that it cannot be avoided any longer. The price question must be settled. Until it is settled we do not see how we can settle the wage question. Until the wage question is settled we do not see how we can resume production and begin turning out the farm machines which we know our farmer customers need.

Because of the important stake which both farmers and city dwellers have in this controversy, we are bringing these matters to your attention. Through the cross currents of today's conditions, we are trying to chart a course that is fair to our employees, to our farmer customers, and to our stockholders.

Trucks Ruin Roads In Elkrun Township

ELKRUN, March 13. — With the heavy weather, trustees of Elkrun township are confronted with a problem in trying to keep township roads in a passable condition due to the hauling of coal over many of the roads.

In the township, it is believed, rates in coal stripping operations are the county with 13 shovels now being operated within its boundaries by seven companies and several hundred acres have been stripped with additional hundreds of acres in the process or under way for stripping. Walter Eells, president of the board of trustees, is seeking aid of County Engineer Charles Snyder, the trustees believe, that some coal companies are very co-operative and are helping to maintain some of the township's roads.

The vast upheaval of the farming community east of Lisbon with resultant spoils banks, has resulted in a great depreciation of land value, with appraisals dropping as low as $5 per acre, it is stated.

Warren Given No. 1 Billing In Youngstown "A" Regional

Tourney Talk

By DON E. BEATTIE, News Sports Editor

IT ISN'T OFTEN that you find a man, regardless of his position, who can take criticism in a constructive manner and accept it pleasantly with sincere efforts to correct the faults which brought on the "gripes". During the sectional-district Class A basketball tournament at Youngstown South's field house, this newspaper, and at least two others, leveled such criticisms at the management of the Youngstown affair. The blasts were pointed directly at two or three things at the county which representatives of those papers felt were wrong. All were quickly and efficiently corrected. Giving credit where credit is due, the praise for the efficient operation of the Youngstown affair is due DAVE M. WILLIAMS, who is also manager of the approaching regional tournament. Williams acted with unprejudiced purpose to make the things at the tourney which were not right satisfactory to the fullest extent. He accepted his criticism and acted upon it. For that alone he deserves a pat on the back. Further, he deserves hearty congratulations from all concerned with the tourney for a fine job of management—one that maintains his reputation as the best tourney manager in the state.

CLASS B REGIONAL play at the field house tomorrow night, featuring Waynesburg vs. North Canton at 8 and Adena against Akron Ellet at 9:15, will offer district fans some of the best basketball they can expect in either A or B competition. North Canton's Vikings, who dumped Columbiana, 45-31, at Kent, are a rangy group, sparked by Earl Hall, Jr., six four Senior pivot with a point total well over the 400 mark for the season. Waynesburg is one of two undefeated contenders in the Ohio Class B race and will give the Vikings all they can ask for. This observer takes Canton.

IN THE SECOND B game tomorrow, Adena comes from the Steubenville district tournament, replacing Yorkville of last season. The quality of Adena ball is not known in these parts, but to eliminate such a team as Yorkville in 1946 is an accomplishment enough to merit Adena serious consideration from all opponents.

The selection of Akron Ellet to face Adena also makes it a wary evening for any forecaster. Akron is another Salem—not overly impressive in play—but for some reason very difficult to defeat.

The charges of Coach John Scott, second cousins to the Akron Ellet championship team of 1944, were raised and trained on Akron Class A competition this season and for that reason are considered favorites. Ellet has beaten North Canton twice during the regular season of play and on that basis also looms as regional favorites for the Springfield trip next week.

VARIOUS SALEMITES have inquired as to just what happens to the money taken in at the an-

He's All Set

Dale Lee White tossed 436 field goals, 116 free throws in 38 games for 988 points, breaking former Illinois prep record of 969, held by Dyke Eddleman of Centralia. Sixteen-year-old, five-foot-11, 205-pound left-handed center helped Irving High School win 33 of 35, establish new state mark with 2511 points. Farm boy does chores, walks two miles to school.

Salem, Akron North Rate Tie For Second Position In Pre-Game Comparisons

Taking a glance over the field of four teams at Youngstown's regional tournament this week—one of which will emerge as this region's representative at the Toledo finals next week—it would seem logical to rate Warren the No. 1 team, Salem and Akron North as tied for second, and Lakewood as the No. 4 entry.

Upsets, of course, can mix that up considerably, but on the basis of recent showings, offenses, defenses, size and season's records, that's the way it looks from here.

Thirty Rounds Of Boxing Scheduled For Thursday

A full evening of fistic artistry awaits "slug bugs" at the Memorial building tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. with 30 rounds of boxing, three five-round affairs and five three-round goes, under the sponsorship of Promoter Scott Chisholm and Matchmaker George Bohm.

Featuring the pair of main events is the Willie Stevenson-Eddie Bell battle in the 135 pound class. Stevenson, rated among the top men in his group in the country, is handled by Johnny Papke of Cleveland, head of the nation's amateur trainers.

Stevenson has already won the featherweight Golden Gloves championship and Papke says "Wait until some of these other trainers get a look at Willie now, he's better than he ever was."

WES FESLER NOW PITT COACH; SEEK BIG TEN VACANCY

School Now Hoping to Get Place Vacated by Chicago Teams

BY ELAINE KAHN (By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, March 13. — An ex-Ohio State football player was the new University of Pittsburgh grid coach today and there was speculation that the appointment may be another step in the Panthers' bid for Big Ten membership. Wes Fesler, now assistant coach at Princeton and a former gridiron great at Ohio State, was named yesterday to succeed Clark D. Shaughnessy who resigned Feb. 4 to return to the University of Maryland.

It was the latest chapter in Pitt's troubled athletic history that began with Dr. John (Jack) Sutherland's stormy exit in 1938. That was the year Pitt, deciding to "deemphasize" the football team that won 111 out of 131 games and went twice to the Rose Bowl, placed itself under the rules of the western Big Ten conference.

Seek Big Ten Post As the quality of Pitt football declined, the schedules got tougher with the emphasis on Conference foes. Last year the Panthers played—and lost—four games with Big Ten rivals.

In fact, the last Big Ten game won by the Jungle Cats was the 26-0 victory over Wisconsin by Jack Sutherland's 1938 eleven—17 Conference games ago.

Chicago formally dropped out of the Big Ten last week, leaving a vacancy Pitt officials do not deny they are seeking.

Today, some of Pitt's alumni who walked out with Sutherland admitted they were disappointed with the selection. "Naturally we are somewhat disappointed that a Pitt man was not chosen," declared Dr. William D. McClelland, President of Pitt Lettermen's club. "We felt there were several who possessed the qualifications to coach at our alma mater."

"However, the Pitt lettermen feel that since Fesler was given the appointment, we must give him our full support."
